Guitarists Kevin Kastning & Mark Wingfield release "The Line to Three"

Kevin Kastning (USA) & Mark Wingfield (UK) are contemporary guitar explorers. Guitar Player magazine said in a feature article of their 2011 Greydisc release I walked into the silver darkness: "Open-minded listeners who surrender to the music's subtle gravitational pull will find themselves entering hitherto unexplored realms of extraordinary beauty and multidimensionality." Mark Wingfield is an internationally recognized guitar virtuoso and innovator. Kevin Kastning invented the 30-string Contra-Alto guitar and 15-string Extended Classical guitar, both of which he plays on this new recording. Both players have been internationally acclaimed for their unique musical vision and innovative approaches to their instruments. This album invokes new landscapes of imagination and deep introspection using a palette of newly invented acoustic guitar-family instruments and individualistic electric guitar sounds to evoke a stunning beauty. InnerViews magazine said of their previous album, "One of the finest albums of this or any other year." WFMU radio in New York City named their four previous albums as one of their Favorite Albums of 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014, and 2015. AcousticMusic.com named their 2014 release "In Stories" as one of the top 10 albums of 2014, and their 2015 release "Eleven Rooms" as one of the best of 2015.

The Line to Three features nine new compositions. This is the duo's sixth release on Greydisc Records.
